

Humanity Thru Housing
Living Hub

CENTRAL SERVICE UNIT 40

(CSU 40)

The CSU was designed to provide power generation, water filtration, communications and monitoring/ Security capabilities Humanity Thru Housing is developing a network of Living Hubs designed to provide stable, resilient, and self-sustaining communities for displaced individuals and families. Our approach goes far beyond traditional shelter models. It is a fully integrated operating ecosystem, engineered with modular design principles, systems-level thinking, and long-range maintenance planning. The CSU is foundation for the Living Hubs —balancing energy loads, optimizing water systems, and supporting community life through infrastructure that is both durable and adaptable.

Core Components of a Standard Living Hub Include:

- Central Service Unit (CSU) providing: An Engineered Environment
 - Power generation for the entire complex
 - Water filtration
 - Black-water collection and treatment
 - Internet service
 - Water distribution
 - Security

These hubs are designed for self-sustainability, workforce development, and community stabilization—ultimately creating pathways from crisis to independence.
